SPICE BAZAAR

Spices, food and clothing are sold in the 17th-century covered bazaar.

The Spice Bazaar in Istanbul is one of the largest bazaars in the city. Located in the Eminönü quarter of the Fatih district, it is the most famous covered shopping complex after the Grand Bazaar. There are several documents suggesting that the name of the bazaar was first "New Bazaar". Then it got its name "Egyptian Bazaar" because it was built with the revenues from the Ottoman eyalet of Egypt in 1660. The building itself is part of the külliye (complex) of the New Mosque. The revenues obtained from the rented shops inside the bazaar building were used for the upkeep of the mosque. Spice Bazaar has a total of 85 shops selling spices, Turkish delight and other sweets, jewellery, souvenirs, and dried fruits and nuts.

EROL DEMIRBAŞ WHO APPLIED TO INSPIRE FUTURE TO PURSUE HIS DREAM CAREER AND WON A FULL SCHOLARSHIP, SHARES HIS STORY:

"In many universities in Turkey, students are not selected based on their abilities. Students are evaluated solely based on the scores they receive from the Student Selection and Placement Center (ÖSYM). However, a person is more than just a score. Students should be given the chance to prove themselves, and universities should have the opportunity to choose students. Many universities around the world operate with this system, and success rates are increasing. I am very happy to have achieved this through Inspire Future and to be currently growing as a part of EVA Team."
